How Do They Get That Way?

Do they know the country is dry? A certain paper published at the county seat, whenever relating to Antioch affairs, characterizes the political factions as the "wet" and "dry" elements. No such thing. Antioch went dry the same time the entire country was supposed to, July 1, 1919, and now it is all "dry" element, even if Waukegan still remains among the "wets" ranks.

Highway to Include Lake Villa, Antioch

The following communication in regards to the State highway was received today.

Having investigated all the proposed locations for bond issue route 21 between Chicago and Wisconsin State line and having held a final hearing on July 29, 1921, the Department of Public Works and Buildings announces a preference for the location described below. This location will be fixed as final for route 21 between the points named, only on condition that the local interests arrange to furnish without cost to the state such additional right of way as may prove necessary in order that a road of ample width, easy turns, moderate grades and a minimum number of railroad grade crossings may be built.

When final surveys have been made, option and conveyance forms descriptions and plats will be furnished by the department to those who undertake to secure the necessary right of way.

Description of Preferred Route

Beginning at the northerly city limits of the city of Chicago, thence northwesterly following the general location of Cook County State Aid Route No. 3 to the north line of Cook County, thence northwesterly following the general location of Lake County, State Aid Route No. 3 to an intersection with an east and west road in Libertyville, south of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway passing through or near Wheeling and Hawthorne Farm, thence northwesterly following existing road relocations on the southerly side of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway to approximately the center of Section 7, T. 44, N. R. 11, East of the 3rd P. M., thence northwesterly following a relocation approximately parallel to and northerly of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway to an intersection with the Soo Line railroad; thence northerly following relocation approximately parallel and easterly of the Soo Line railroad to an intersection with Lake County State Aid Route No. 1 (Belvidere road) passing through or near the village of Gray Lake thence north and northwesterly following the general location of Lake County State Aid Route No. 1 and relocations to the north line of Lake County, passing through or near Lake Villa, Loon Lake and Antioch.

It is understood that the above description covers the general location of Bond Issue Route 21, but that the exact location of the road actually built may vary so that easy grades, moderate turns and a minimum number of grade crossings will exist in the finally completed road. It is also understood that the general location of the routes may be changed in case full cooperation is not secured in obtaining the right of way.

STORM DOES DAMAGE TO MANY TOWNS

Friday night's storm, although not so damaging in Antioch, played havoc in nearby towns and villages. In Bristol, the wind played an expensive prank on J. P. Lavey, a blacksmith, who lived over his shop. While Lavey was lowering a window in his bedroom, the wind lifted the entire second story of the building, carried at several yards and dropped it. Lavey was uninjured.

Howard Dunham of Chicago, a guest at the Gifford house, went out to the swimming float in Channel Lake in front of Gifford's about 5 p. m. After reaching the float the storm came up and for over 30 minutes he was deluged with water and as no boat could leave, so he had to remain on the float until after the storm.

On Green Bay road, on the way to Camp Lake, E. L. Kappelman, an Evanston, Ill., alderman, had to remove from the roadway eleven trees or parts of trees that had blown in his path during the storm. Much wire from fences also served as obstacles and on one occasion his machine was blown sideways off the road.

North of Waukegan many small houses were blown over and trees uprooted.

The damage in Antioch was confined mostly to trees, although much corn was blown down and destroyed.

Friday's storm caused more damage in Wilmot and vicinity than any of this summer. Both the electric and telephone companies were busy for several days repairing the numerous broken poles and wires. So many trees were blown over that traveling on the roads that night was very risky. A Chicago man drew up under one of the large maples next to the Wilmot garage to wait until the wind storm was over. He heard a crash over his head and just jumped out of the car in time. A huge limb fell the length of the road and completely crushed the top of his new Buick roadster. Ferdinand Beck had just passed under the tree and was a few feet up the walk when the limb fell. Considerable excitement was caused when one of the big trees next to the Fred Faulkner home caught fire from a broken electric wire. The company closed down until the next day so many trees had fallen on the lines at different places and caused trouble. Several silos were blown over, one on the Frank Rudolph farm. Two rooms at the Camp Lake ice house were destroyed and part of the roof blown away.

Mrs. Ada Guest Given Divorce

Alleging that her husband had treated her with extreme cruelty, Mrs. Ada M. Guest, was granted a divorce from Robert H. Guest in the circuit court of Kenosha, on Friday afternoon by Judge Belden. In addition Mrs. Guest was granted the custody of the one child, Russell Leroy Guest.

Mr. Guest, who is a well known Kenosha engineer did not appear to contest the suit and a stipulation for a division of the estate was entered along.

Mrs. Guest asserted that she had been made ill by the continued cruelty of her husband and that during her illness no medical attention was given her.

Under the provision of the decree the husband is to have a chance to make frequent visits to the home. He is given permission to see the boy once each week and to have the custody of the boy for alternate Saturdays and Sundays and is given the right to have the boy for a four day visit with him during the Christmas holidays of each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Guest were married in Salem on October 25, 1905.

Druggist Has Best Window

Reeves' drug store was awarded first prize in the window display this week with two firsts, while Maud Sabin received the other first choice. Second choices were given to King's drug store, Otto Klass and Maud Sabin.

Mr. Reeves has a very neat display, made up of writing paper and fancy stationery. King also has a very neat window as well as Klass, who has a very pleasing display. The windows in general in the business section are a vast improvement over several months ago. Next Tuesday three members of the Woman's club, will make another selection and it is up to the merchants to brighten up and win the quarter page ad for next week.

Motor Boat Race at Channel Lake Next Sunday

Next Sunday, August 28, a handicap motorboat race will be held in Channel lake under the auspices of the Fox River and Lakes Improvement association. The race will start and finish at Rothe's Sylvan Beach, the north end of Channel Lake. Starting time is at 2 p. m. Prizes have been offered by C. H. Rothe, W. O. Winch and the Gifford House.

The association also announces that the work of dredging the channel between Nippersink and Pistakee lakes, which extends from the north of Meyer's boat factory to Pistakee lake is now completed. It is recommended that all large boats and speed boats use this channel so as to eliminate damage to boats and possible injury to bathers in the narrow, crowded channel commonly known as Meyer's cutout between Pistakee and Nippersink lakes.

The association regatta committee is also preparing a series of motorboat races for Labor day, on which announcements will be made later.

Channel Lake Visitors Have Narrow Escape

When at the end of their trip for a visit as the guest of Mr. E. C. Richardson at Channel lake last Thursday evening, a party consisting of Miss Hester Crowley of Peoria, Mrs. John D. Grieg of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mrs. Mary E. Culver, Peoria, Ill., and Miss Crowley's nephew, Mr. Arthur L. Crowley of Peoria, and Mr. Leslie Perry met with what might have been a very serious accident if the front wheel of their car had not hung on to a post of the bridge and saved a complete turnover of the car, which had turned from the road and skidded to one side and turned over on its side.

Miss Crowley received cuts on her face and right arm and was badly shaken up and bruised. Mrs. Grieg had her left elbow dislocated and received severe bruises. The others escaped with slight bruises and were shaken up, Mr. Crowley also received a severe cut on his arm.

The party were conveyed to Mr. Richardson's home where they received medical attention.

The accident was found to have been caused by the unit of the steering rod lock displaced the rod or brace and made the driver, Mr. Crowley lose control of the car.

Many Attend G. A. R. Camp Fire at Foss Park

Nearly 500 people attended the annual G. A. R. camp fire at Foss Park, North Chicago, last week.

The question of abandoning the annual reunions and forming an association to include members of the G. A. R., the Spanish war veterans and the veterans of the world war, together with their auxiliaries, was put to a vote of the veterans, but they decided to hold at least another reunion next year.

A twentysix piece naval station band, under the direction of Bandmaster J. V. Jera, played several selections. There were registrations from all over the United States.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—S. I. Pope, Libertyville.
First Vice President—H. L. Burdick, Area.

Second Vice President—Herman Wheeler, Libertyville.

Third Vice President—A. T. White, Grayslake.

Lambert Players Give Variety of Stage Plays

The Lambert Player's theatrical troupe were unable to give a performance on Friday night, due to the storm, which cut off the lights, and were forced to remain over until Sunday evening, when the third and last play was given.

Each night a different play was staged and all well received by the crowd that packed the canvas enclosure. The talent offered was of the highest class and each play well executed.

LIGHT VOTE IS CAST AT PRIMARY

The election of last Friday was a very dull affair, only 87 votes being cast. The ticket offered by the business men had no opposition, only a few votes being cast for candidates for the regular election to be held, September 8.

Out of the 85 votes cast, 34 were defective and were thrown out. On some ballots the names were written in and then the voter failed to put an X in the square in front of the name; others marked an X in the square, but failed to write in the name of the desired candidate.

Of the remaining 53 votes which were counted, William Hillebrand received the most, with a vote of 46.

The other voters were divided as follows:

Long Term
Hillebrand	46
Christian	33
Rosing	13
Webb	3
Van Duzer	2
Spafford	1
Adams	1
Short Term
Webb	41
Rosing	34
Christian	6
Bock	1
N. Sibley	1
F. Dunn	1
J. Westlake	1

The appearance of the four business men of the town who have submitted their names as candidates to fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of four members of the former board seems to be the future talk of the town and with each successive day these men seem to be adding support to their cause. This combination of business men is generally conceded as one of the strongest that can be assembled in the town, and there seems to be a concerted movement among the progressive men of the village to get behind these men and put them in intact.

The attempt of some interests to inject the "wet" and "dry" question into this election is evidently a last resort to combat the inevitable advance of a progressive movement in affairs of Antioch and will no doubt be received in the same manner as all other antiquated issues that are injected into campaigns.

Auto Toll Road to Milwaukee, Plan of Broker

Alfred E. Case, of Channel Lake, president of Case, Boyd & Co., brokers, of Chicago, announced early this week that he is having plans drawn for a private automobile highway 200 feet wide connecting Chicago and Milwaukee, with branch highways to the Wisconsin lake country.

Mr. Case's plan calls for six road beds of concrete surfaced with asphalt, with all vehicles on each road moving in the same direction. Two of the roads would be used for passenger bus service, on all express schedule; two operate as toll roads for private passenger cars; and two as freight roads.

A $5,000,000 company has been organized, Mr. Case said, with an authorized bond issue of $10,000,000.

"The highway will be elevated over all country roads and railroads," his announcement says, "electric lighted, lined with trees, shrubs and flowers for the purpose of making it one of the most beautiful drives in the world, and fully protected by armed guards to insure the public from bandits and highwaymen."

Milk Prices Cut 2 Cents a Quart

A 3 1/2 per cent cut in the price of milk, effective September 1, was announced yesterday in Chicago.

This reduction affects the price at which milk will be sold to dealers. The dealers in turn announce substantial reductions in the retail price will be made at the same time.

The announcement was made by the executive committee of the Milk Producers' Co-operative Marketing company, 9 S. Clinton street, an organization made up of 17,000 dairy farmers, who sell 1,000,000 quarts daily to 500 dealers.

The spokesman said farmers were cutting their prices because of business condition. At the new price, it is claimed the farmers are to sell milk at $1 a hundred pounds less than it costs to produce it.

At present the farmers are selling milk to the dealers at $2.30 a hundred pounds, or 46 quarts. The new price will be $1.50—a cut of nearly 2 cents a quart.

The farmers say retail milk prices should be reduced to 10 cents a quart.

Enters Home; Steals Two Platinum Rings

On Saturday afternoon, July 23, someone entered the home of O. L. Hoyer and stole two platinum diamond rings. One contained 1 1/2 carat diamond and two smaller diamonds. The other was a wedding ring with diamond settings.

Every effort is being made to recover the rings and Sheriff Rauhen and his assistants visited the Hoyer home last week. They have been working on the case since the theft, but have as yet, no clue which might lead to their recovery.

MINISTER DISCUSSES HIS WIFE'S TROUBLES

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., says:

"After seeing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

"I frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored!"

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

New Cause for Lightning.

An old negro preacher in a southern rural district accounted for the lightning in this way:

"Ever' time Satan looks down an' sees de Lawd's work gwine on, fire flashes 'um his eyes. Dat's de lightning'. An' w'en he fails ter hit a church wid it he lays back an' hollers. Dat's de thunder."

"But, parson," said an old deacon, "whar is Satan in de winter time? We don't have no lightning den."

The preacher studied a minute and then said: "Well, hit may be, Br'er Williams, dat he'll freeze over den!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Difficult Task.

A soul was about to start for the earth. "Just a minute," said the recording angel. "One word before you go. When you get down among the human race you can accomplish something no man has ever done before if you have the will."

"What is that?"

"It doesn't sound like much to do, but it is. Be the one man among millions who has never complained about the weather."

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Don't Fine at College.

"John writes that he's doing fine at college this year," said the old man. "You don't say!"

"Yes," writes just as easy in Latin as he swears in English. Other day he gave a Greek dinner in my honor."

"Wuz you that?"

"Oh, no!"

"Well, whar did you come in?"

"Paid for it in English!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Airplanes to Aid Surveyors.

Railroad engineers in the future when making reconnaissance surveys in unknown countries will find the airplane a great saving in time and money. An aerial survey of a proposed Philippine railway showed the possibilities of the method.

It might be well for girls to remember that willful waste brings woeful want of desirable husbands.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

He was risking everything for the sake of speed. He gave no heed to the fallen timber that might have torn the web of his snow shoes to shreds. Because he shut out all thought of it, he had no feeling of fatigue. The fight with Cranston had been a frightful strain on muscle and nerve; but he scarcely remembered it now. His whole purpose was to return to Snowbird before the wolves lost the last of their cowardice.

The jerked venison that he had munched had brought him back much of his strength. He was wholly unconscious of his heavy pack. Never did he glide so swiftly, so softly, with such unerring step; and it was nothing more or less than a perfect expression of the iron-clad control that his steel nerves had over his muscles.

Then, through the silence, he heard the shout of the pack as the wolf had leaped at Snowbird. He knew what it meant. The wolves were attacking then, and a great flood of black, hating bitterness poured over him at the thought he had been too late. It had all been in vain, and before the thought could fully go home, he heard the dim, far-off crack of a pistol.

Was that the first of the three shots, the one she might expend on the wolves, or had the first two already been spent and was she taking the last gateway of escape? Perhaps even now Lennox was lying still on the sled, and she was standing before the ruin of her fire, praying that her soul might have wings. He shouted with all the power of his lungs across the snow.

But Snowbird only heard the soft glide of the wolves in the snow. The wind was blowing toward Dan; and while he had heard the loud chorus of the pack, one of the most far-carrying cries, and the penetrating crack of a pistol, she couldn't hear his answering shout. In fact, the wilderness seemed preternaturally still. All was breathless, heavy with suspense, and she stood, just as Dan had thought, between the ruin of her fire and the sled, and she looked with straight eyes to the oncoming wolves.

"Hurry, Snowbird," Lennox was whispering. "Give me the pistol—for that last work. We have only a moment more."

He looked very calm and brave, half-raised as he was on the sled, and perhaps a half-smile lingered at his bearded lips. And the bravest thing of all was that to spare her, he was willing to take the little weapon from her hand to use it in its last service. She tried to smile at him, then crept over to his side.

The strain was over. They knew what they had to face. She put the pistol in his steady hand.

His hand lowered to his side and he sat waiting. The moments passed. The wolves seemed to be waiting, too, for the last flickering tongue of the little fire to die away. The last of her fuel was ignited and burning out; they were crouched and ready to spring if she should venture forth after more. The darkness closed down deeper, and at last only a column of smoke remained.

It was nothing to be afraid of. The great, gray leader of the pack, a wolf that weighed nearly 100 pounds, began slowly and deliberately to set his muscles for the spring. It was the same as when the great bull elk comes to bay at the base of the cliffs; usually some one wolf, often the great pack leader, wishing to remind his followers of his might, or else some full-grown male proud in his strength, will attack alone. Because this was the noblest game that the pack had ever faced, the leader chose to make the first leap himself. It was true that these two had no such horns nor razor-edged hoofs as the elk, yet they had eyes that chilled his heart when he tried to look at them. But one was lying almost prone, and the fire was out. Besides, the madness of starvation, intensified ten times by their terrible realization of the wound at her hip, was upon the pack as never before. The muscles bunched at his lean flanks.

But as Snowbird and her father gazed at him in fascinated horror, the great wolf suddenly smashed down in the snow. She was aware of its curious, utter collapse actually before the sound of the rifle shot that occasioned it had penetrated her consciousness. It was a perfect shot at long range; and for a long instant her tortured faculties refused to accept the truth.

Then the rifle spoke again, and a second wolf—a large male that crouched on the other side of the sled—fell kicking in the snow. The pack had leaped forward at the first death; but they halted at the second. And then terror came to them when the third wolf suddenly opened its savage lips and screamed in the death agony.

Up to this time, except for the report of the rifle, the attack had been made in utter silence. The reason was just that both breath and nervous force are needed to shout; and Dan Failing could afford to waste neither of these vital forces. He had dropped to his knee, and was firing again and again, his gray eyes looking clear and straight into the barrel, his fingers without jerk or tremor pressing again and again at the trigger, his hands holding the rifle as in a vise. Every nerve and muscle were completely in his command. The distance was far, yet he shot with deadly, amazing accuracy. The wolves were within a few feet of the girl, and a fraction's waver in the gun barrel might have sped his bullet toward her.

"It's Dan Failing," Lennox shouted as the fourth wolf died.

Then Snowbird snatched her pistol from her father's hand and opened fire. The two shells were no longer needed to free herself and her father from the agony of fangs. She took careful aim, and although a pistol is never as accurate or as powerful as a rifle, she killed one wolf and wounded another.

Frenzied in their savagery, three or four of the remaining wolves leaped at the body of one of the wounded; but the others scattered in all directions. Still Dan fired with the same unbelievable accuracy, and still the wolves died in the snow. The girl and the man were screaming now in the frenzied joy of deliverance. The wolves scurried frantically among the trees; and some of them unknowingly ran full in the face of their enemy, to be shot down without mercy. And few indeed were those that escaped—to collect on a distant ridge, and perhaps, to be haunted in dream by a death that came out of the shadows to blast the pack.

Again the pack song would be despairing and strange in the winter nights—that age old chant of Famine and Fear and the long war of existence with only Death and Darkness in the end. And because it is the voice of the wilderness itself, the tenderfoot that camps in the evergreen forest will listen, and his talk will die at his lips, and he will have the beginnings of knowledge. And perhaps he will wonder if God has given him the thews and fiber to meet the wilderness breast to breast as Dan had met it; to remain and to fight and to conquer. And thereby his metal will be tested in the eyes of the Red Gods.

"We Will Take It Easy From Now On."

Snowbird stood waiting in the snow, arms stretched to her forehead as Dan came running through the wood. But his arms were wider yet, and she went softly into them.

"We will take it easy from now on," Dan Failing told them, after the camp was cleared of its dead and the fire was built high. "We have plenty of food; and we will travel a little while each day and make warm camps at night. We'll have friendship fires, just as sometimes we used to build on the ridge."

"But after you get down in the valleys?" Lennox asked anxiously. "Are you and Snowbird coming up here to live?"

The silence fell over their camp; and a wounded wolf whined in the darkness. "Do you think I could leave it now?" Dan asked. By no gift of words could he have explained why; yet he knew that by token of his conquest, his spirit was wedded to the dark forests forever. "But heaven knows what I'll do for a living."

Snowbird crept near him, and her eyes shone in the bright fire light. "I've solved that," she said. "You know you studied forestry—and I told the supervisor at the station how much you knew about it. I wasn't going to tell you until—until certain things happened—and now they have happened. I can't wait another instant. He said that with a little more study you could get into the forest service—take an examination and become a ranger. You're a natural forester if one ever lived, and you'd love the work."

"Besides," Lennox added, "it would clip my Snowbird's wings to make her live on the plains. My big house will be rebuilt, children. There will be fires in the fire place on the fall nights. There is no use of thinking of the plains."

"And there's going to be a smaller house—just a cottage at first—right beside it," Dan replied. He could go back to his forests, after all. He wouldn't have to throw away his birthright, fought for so hard; and it seemed to him no other occupation could offer so much as that of the forest rangers—those silent, cool-headed guardians of the forest and keepers of its keys.

For a long time Snowbird and he stood together at the edge of the firelight, their bodies warm from the glow, their hearts brimming with words they could not utter. Words always come hard to the mountain people. They are folk of action, and Dan, rather than words, trusted to the yearning of his arms.

"We're made for each other, Snowbird, darling," he told her breathlessly at last. "And at last I can claim what I've been waiting for all these months."

He claimed it; and in open defiance to all civil law, he collected fully 100 times in the next few minutes. But it didn't particularly matter, and Snowbird didn't even turn her face. "Maybe you've forgotten you claimed it when you first came back, too," she said.

So he had. It had completely slipped his mind, in the excitement of his fight with the wolf pack. And then while Lennox pretended to be asleep, they sat, breathless with happiness, on the edge of the sled and watched the dawn come out.

They had never seen the snow so lovely in the sunlight.

ECSTASY IN THE SALESROOM

Goaded "Prospect" Finally Forced, in Self-Defense, to Rise to the Occasion Himself.

"But this is such a sweet little model, honey. Perfect on you. Look at the quality of this duvety, dearie. Now, honey, did you ever see such lines?"

There may have been heroes of grand opera who could make love with the fluency and intensity of a salesgirl drawing near to a sale, but no expert exists whose ardor can thus flame when the actual moment of decision between the higher and the lower comes, writes Marian Storm in the New York Evening Post.

"Lots of little girls that buy these little suits just leave off their little blouses and wear them like little one-piece dresses. Now, this little style, dearie, was made for you. Look, honey, not a wrinkle in back. Isn't it lovely on her?"—appeals to another enraptured creature—"Isn't she just the little girl to wear this little model? Of course, not every one can wear this little suit, dearie. It takes a figure, honey, just like you've got. I wear the same suit myself."

"Dearie, in two weeks you couldn't buy this little suit for half the price again. Isn't it lovely on her? I said, honey, when you came in: 'There's the girl that can wear that little special we got today.' Now turn around, dear. You won't have to do a thing to it. Length—just right, honey. Sleeves—just right, honey."

"Sweetness," she urged, at passionate climax, "don't let a little chance like this go by! Dearie, if you only like this!"

"But, oh, my beloved," returned the goaded customer half fiercely. "The price! The price!"

Barnstable's Old Bell.

In the courthouse at Barnstable, Mass., is an old bell, cracked and silent, which may be, and probably is, the oldest bell in the United States. So thinks Mr. Alfred Crocker, clerk of courts of Barnstable county. The date 1075 is still plainly visible in the photograph recently printed in the Boston Evening Transcript.

By this date, however, the old bell had seen nearly a quarter of a century of life in England before it came to America and began calling worshippers together in the church at Sandwich town. Gratitude bought the bell in England, for it came as a gift from Mrs. Peter Adolph, whose husband, Captain Adolph, was lost in the wreck of his vessel on the Massachusetts coast in 1007 despite the efforts of the people of Sandwich.

Drawing an Audience.

Professor Letterkink—I'm delighted to see so large a gathering in the house. I never spoke to an audience of more than 40 before. Your townsmen are interested in science?

The Local Editor—Not much. But my compositor in setting up the ad of your lecture on the "Cosmic Forces," left the "s" out of "Cosmic."

Her Suspicion.

Mr. Gotham—I see a Brooklyn woman has applied to the courts for help from being loved to death by her husband, who, she says, kisses her 300 times a day.

Mrs. Gotham—Can't understand how a man can do so many wrong things that he has to apologize as much as that.

HOOVER FIGHTS SHIP GRAFTERS

Secretary Asks Resignation of Shipping Commissioner at New York.

WILL CLEAN UP ALL OFFICES

Department of Commerce Says Special Agents Found That Systematic Graft Has Been the Rule for Several Years.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Graft is rampant in the offices of federal shipping commissioners, and there is to be a "clean sweep" in that branch of the bureau of navigation at Atlantic as well as Pacific ports, it was officially stated on Tuesday at the Department of Commerce.

Secretary Hoover requested the resignation of Shipping Commissioner Quinn at New York. Hoover said he "would clean up" the New York bureau with a "scrub brush" to remove all traces of corruption.

Special agents found that in New York systematic graft has been the rule among all employees for several years.

Reports laid before Secretary Hoover revealed that the graft secured by government officers in the form of securities of shipping companies far exceeded the salaries paid to government employees.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are alleged to have been so paid to government agents for special concessions. The "clean-up" at New York is the forerunner of drastic measures at many other ports to reorganize completely this branch of the service.

Commerce department officials said with regard to the New York situation that no evidence has been obtained to show that Commissioner Quinn participated directly in the graft, but other proof is before the department which tends to show that he was lax in eliminating these and other practices.

HARDING FOR LABOR'S VOICE

Wants Workers Represented at Disarmament Meet, Says Samuel Gompers.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—President Harding looked with favor on labor's request for representation at the disarmament conference to be held in Washington, Samuel Gompers said at the opening of the meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, and he stated that as president of the federation he had communicated with organized labor bodies of other nations with a view of getting their attitude on representation at the disarmament discussion.

Mr. Gompers added that he had received a letter of appreciation from President Harding after visiting the White House and suggesting that American labor be permitted representation in the conference.

"Labor has always been an advocate of disarmament," said Mr. Gompers, "and the full force of organized labor of America backs President Harding in his move to bring about world peace through disarmament."

HUNT FIRE RUINS FOR DEAD

Macon Firemen Think More Than Three Whose Bodies Are Found Perished.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 24.—Three persons are known to have lost their lives on Monday in a fire which destroyed the Brown house, a frame hotel here, and firemen expressed the belief the death list would be materially increased when the ruins of the structure had been fully explored.

John K. Hays, a former justice of the peace, is among the dead. The bodies of two men taken from the second floor of the building have not been identified.

Approximately 20 of the 150 guests of the hotel were injured.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work every day, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about your medicine and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments. You may use my testimonial as you like."—STELLA LINXWILER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Indiana.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Not Quite Alone. Bobbie had been pouring scorn on girls and their ways till his little sister was ready to cry. "Ugh!" said Bobbie. "You've no pluck! You daren't go into that dark room by yourself!" "I dare!" said the little girl angrily. "I dare! You just come with me and see me do it!"—London Weekly Telegraph.

Antioch Defeats Sommers' Greys by 5 to 3 Score

Sunday being an ideal day brought out a number of local fans to witness the two ball games scheduled. The first game between the Antioch second team and Lake Villa lasted five innings, at no time could the Antioch boys break the winning streak of the visitors. The score ended in Lake Villa's favor 6 to 1.

At 2:45 the big game started off between the Sommers' Greys and the locals, a little confusion was created at the beginning as the visitors catcher failed to make any appearance, but the game started out with a sub catcher. Wilton was on the mound for the local and was in his best all the way through the game, at no time did he let the visitors get any the best of him, striking out seven men and passed up none. Fest was in the box for the visitors and pitched a fair game, striking out four and passed three.

The locals made twelve hits and the visitors six. The locals had a wonderful infield and it would take a pretty good team to trim them.

Firestone, as "Porter," Conducts the President to Bunk in the Mountains

PRESIDENT HARDING is shown above inspecting the tent where he bivouacked one night recently while a member of the famous Edison-Ford-Firestone camping party which spent ten days in the mountains of Maryland and West Virginia.

He is being conducted to his tent by H. S. Firestone, Akron tire manufacturer, and has placed his personal effects inside.

The president was the guest of Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison and Mr. Firestone, making the fourth member of a party to which John Burroughs, the aged naturalist, belonged until his death last spring.

The first camp was pitched beside Licking creek, a small stream that trickles into the Potomac river through the Maryland mountains. There they found quiet, fishing, and splendid country roads for horseback riding astride thoroughbred animals that Mr. Firestone shipped from his farm, where he was born and reared, near Columbiana, Ohio.

While in camp the president chopped wood for the kitchen fire, made up his bunk in the converted army tent, and proved himself a model camper.

It does not require a second glimpse of his face to sense the fact that he is glad to get away from the affairs of state to spend a while in camp.

After two days and a night in camp, the president was called back to Washington on official business, the others continuing with their scheduled trip.

him his mistake. Oh, well, he wasn't a regular umpire.

If Antioch should get beat at the picnic then all the fun will be off, as we figured that we could get the Silverlake team to come down to the local diamond and try out and bring the Antioch crowd with them. Gee, it must be interesting to watch the same team win every Sunday, especially when your home team is doing just as good work.

Firestone first made the low price of $13.95 on the Standard Non-Skid, May 2. Unusual purchasing power through big volume of business, and the great efficiency of its $7,000,000 Plant No. 2, manufacturing exclusively 30x3½ size, made this possible. Now, the production of the Extra-Size 30x3½ tire has been transferred to Plant No. 2. This permits the price reduction on this tire from $16.65 to $13.95. No such value has ever before been offered tire users. If your dealer hasn't the Extra-Size in stock ask for our Standard Non-Skid type at the same price. You will still be getting an unusual tire value.

VOTE FOR PROGRESS

The village election next month will prove to be the turning point in the affairs of Antioch that will have a vast influence on the welfare of our inhabitants for a generation. No town can stand still. If it doesn't move forward, it is going backward. With the best brains of the community offering their services for the good of all it behooves the rank and file to show their appreciation by giving them a record vote. It is a sacrifice of both time and money to accept a trusteeship. The men on the Peoples ticket would be better off financially if they were beaten but how about the village? If it was necessary to hire these men at the same rate of compensation that they are paid in their own line of business, the cost would be great. Now that we have access to their services let us grasp the opportunity. This will be the first step in making Antioch a better and more prosperous place to live in.

The Waukegan Sun of last Friday printed a wild tale about a joy riding booze drinking party going into the ditch on their way to Gifford's Hotel. There wasn't a line of truth in the entire article. Three elderly ladies from Peoria all over seventy years of age, accompanied by their nephews were returning from a family reunion at Milwaukee, when the steering knuckle broke and their machine was ditched. No one was seriously injured. Mrs. Fenderson, proprietor of Gifford's Hotel has instructed her attorney in Waukegan to demand a retraction from the publishers of the Sun as the article reflected on the reputation of a hotel that has enjoyed a spotless reputation for more than thirty years.

TYPES OF BABY BEEF COWS

Three Important Factors Should Be Kept in Mind in Making Selection of Breeders.

In selecting cows from which baby beef is to be produced, three very important factors should be kept in mind:

1. The cows should have at least a fair amount of beef blood. Purebreds are not necessary, but two or three crosses of such breeding is essential. Cows with a preponderance of dairy blood will not do for the production of baby beef.

2. Cows best suited for this type of breeding usually weigh 900 pounds or over in thrifty breeding condition. So long as early maturity is not sacrificed, the heavier cows are the most suitable for baby-beef production. Size of frame rather than weight should govern in selecting cows which are to be used for this purpose.

3. The cows used to produce baby beeves should produce enough milk to keep the calves fat and growing without much additional feed up to weaning time.

In addition to these three factors, such things as constitution, uniformity of breeding, color, size and early maturity should be considered.

"Heart of Maryland" at Crystal Theatre

Vitagraph's superb production of David Belasco's famous stage play, "The Heart of Maryland" presents Catherine Calvert, in the stellar role.

It has many advantages over its stage predecessor, for it was made in the exact locale described in the story, on a stage that is nature itself. The spoken drama is limited in its ability to convey ideas that the film visualizes in dramatic scenes.

Depicting one of the most interesting and intensely dramatic periods in American history, with a clean, sweet love story interwoven in a background of war, the production has a theme that will appeal to all. Great care and discretion have been exercised in producing the picture. There is just enough of the war of the rebellion to set the story, and not enough to convey the horror of those stirring days. The camera worked in these scenes with war background is remarkable. The bell scene, a spectacle for which "The Heart of Maryland" will always be known, is handled in a capable manner, but though this was the big scene in the play, the picture carries many of equal importance. All in all, the production grips the attention from the first and holds it throughout.

Miss Calvert was never seen to greater advantage than as Maryland Calvert, and her work throughout is practically beyond criticism.

Waukegan Plans Big Dollar Day

The merchants of Waukegan have arranged for another dollar day to be held Thursday, August 25, and it will be a bigger and better bargain event and more elaborately carried out than any other dollar day of the past. It will be more of a community event than heretofore and more merchants will co-operate.

Through the commercial division of the Chamber of Commerce the merchants of practically every line of retail trade have organized to put over a dollar day on a scale never attempted before, committees have been appointed to organize the various divisions and no branch of retail business will be overlooked in the arrangements.

The arrangements committee states that it is already evident that bargains will be offered in this sale for one dollar that have never been given before at any dollar sale anywhere. The committee has found the merchants enthusiastic in their efforts to out do all records of the past and it is safe to say that the public will actually save thousands of dollars on that one day.

Adventures of a Busy Loafer

I was born on Hirma Thrift's farm ten miles from town. There were a lot of us out there and Old Hiram was so proud of us he used to bring his friends out to show them how big we were getting. We had lots of fun playing in the open air and talking to each other and planning our future.

Like in all families, some of us were not as strong and good looking as the others, and I heard some of the man say one day when they were looking at us, "That lot will never amount to much." It was then that I decided I wanted to get away from the country. I used to stand out in the fields where the warm sun poured down heat upon us and think of how nice it would be to go traveling about the country on the trains and boats, and at night when the cool breezes rocked us to sleep, I dreamed of it.

One day late in the summer Farmer Thrift took us to the mill in town. It required several wagons to take us all. Some of us runts were put into one wagon by ourselves, while our healthier brothers and sister went in the others. We were pretty dirty when we arrived at the mill, and before they would let us in the place we were all put through a cleaning process. Then they separated the family and sent us to different rooms. I heard one of men say that the room where we were put was for "off grades," and after we settled down I learned that those of us in that room were to be shipped away on a train, while the more sturdy ones were to be kept at home. This pleased me for I thought, "At last I am to go traveling; my dream will be realized, and I will see the big cities."

We stayed at the mill for a few days and then were put into a train. I was disappointed, for it was crowded and dark, and we were switched off into a side track where we stood for several days in the rain. Finally we were carried to a big city and let out of the car at a big elevator. I heard a man say that it held five million bushels, and the company they threw me into was not at all to my liking. For thirty-three days we were held at this place. It was hot and dirty there, and I know that during that time I became the property of six different men who bought and sold me. Nobody seemed to want me, and I began to think that I would end my days there in the dirty part of the city where the trains threw their smoke all over us and we never got a breath of clean, fresh air.

Then news came that our next destination was a big flour mill. We were again loaded into a car and had another long ride, at the end of which I found myself among such poor company that I became thoroughly disgusted and didn't care what happened to me. I had started out from my home as perfectly good wheat, slightly stunted, but sweet and pure, and here I was ending my days among a poor, smutty, starved crowd that had been gathered together from all corners of the country. I had not long to ponder over my troubles, for in a few days I was ground into flour, and again loaded into car for another long ride. My new owner was a wholesale grocer, but he soon sold me to a baker in a town far away, and I had to go on another long, tiresome trip.

Well, finally I was baked into bread, and as I stood on the shelves waiting to be sold and looking out the store windows, I was surprised to find that it was the town just beyond Farmer Thrift's farm where I was raised. Little Johnny Jones, who used to come out to the farm, came in and paid 12 cents for me.

He took me home and they put me in the bread can, and there I found some of my own brothers and sisters. They had been made into flour at the home mill and Johnny's mother had brought them direct from the mill to her house. My, but they did look nice; just as sweet and fresh as could be. While I felt that all the life had been taken away from me. And just as she closed the lid of the box, I heard Johnny's mother say, "It's a shame to have to pay so much for that when I can make so much better bread from the flour I get at the Antioch Milling Co's. mill.—Adv.

The meeting of the West Kenosha County Fair organization which was held in the Wilmet high school building on the evening of August 20, was quite largely attended. The meeting was held for the purpose of endorsing work done at the last two meetings which were held some time ago. The public will be glad to hear of the fact that the articles of organization have been accepted and signed by secretary of state and have also been filed in the office of the register of deeds, and so all preliminary steps have been taken to make the West Kenosha fair a huge success. Besides endorsing the work of the last meetings, the premium question was discussed pro and con. A meeting of the premium committee will be held at Silverlake on next Wednesday evening after which the premium list will be ready for the press. The officers are putting forth every effort to have both premium lists and entry blanks in the hands of the public within the next two weeks.

One special feature which will be promoted largely at the coming fair is the parade. It was agreed at the meeting which was held to divide the parade into five divisions, offering prizes in each division. The divisions will be made as follows: Floats of business men and different organizations, farmer floats, high school floats, those of the rural schools, and also a comic division. The public is invited to attend to take part in the parade and compete for prizes.

The farmers are urged to put away the best they have in the line of exhibits and have them out at the time of the fair. The fact that agricultural products are not as good this year as they were last should discourage no one from bringing in exhibits. Bring the best you have. The fair will be held Friday, September 30, and Saturday, October 1.

Ancient Coins.

The oldest coins (from cuneus, a punch) are assigned by Herodotus to Lydia, and by Almonet to Persia, but if the word is intended to cover cast or hammered metallic money, then coins are 12 or 15 centuries older than the Persian darics; for we have Chinese bronze "knife" coins of Sung, 2237 B. C., inscribed "Tong King Ho," or good for gold; also numerous allusions to metallic money, not weights, but "current money with the merchant" (Genesis 22, 10), as the Hindu ramanenks and siccas.
